After the company of which he was a member landed they were sent to Columbus, Ohio, to take part in a celebration there and passed through this city with these troops.

Babe's Dead Body Found in Cemetery

Carefully wrapped in cotton and placed securely in a shoe box and then in a wooden box, the body of a very small baby was found in the old Fairmont cemetery yesterday by small boys who were running through the weeds and underbrush. The find was reported to the county officers who made a careful investigation. Later the body was taken to the Cunningham morgue and prepared for burial. Dr. J. E. Omer made a careful examination of the child and found that it had come to a natural death. Unless those who put the body where it was found appear and make arrangements for the disposal of the body, a more thorough investigation will follow.

Fleming Chapel's New Pastor In City

Rev. George W. Guthrie, the new pastor of Fleming Chapel arrived in Fairmont on Thursday and will assume charge of the church tomorrow. Rev. Guthrie is a graduate of Allegheny Presbyterian Seminary at Pittsburgh, and resided in West Virginia, near Wheeling. For the present he will reside in the George Morgan property on Fleming avenue until the congregation can erect a new home for him. Rev. Guthrie will be installed as pastor of the church on June 10.

OBITUARY. Bessie Blanche Jamison, daughter of the late Dr. W. G. and Dora Jamison, peacefully fell asleep on the evening of 22d of May, 1919. In her "going home" one of earth's sweetest ones has gone. It would seem that a life so handicapped would be of little use, but to those who knew her, she was a character of rare sweetness and an unselfish disposition worthy of being patterned by more active Christians.

Our hearts go out in deepest sympathy to the lonely mother, who has been so recently bereft of her husband and is left alone, but we know that to her is stretched out the "beautiful hands" of the three loved ones gone before.

Short Mining Course. The schedule of classes for the short course in coal mining to be held at Morgantown from June 16 to July 26 has been announced. It is brimful of interest to every mining man no matter whether he is just preparing to take the examination to get his forman's or fireboss' certificate or whether he is a mine superintendent. There is no question that this course is the best and most complete short course in the entire country, and every miner who can afford the time should by all means spend six weeks at Morgantown. There are no charges of any kind and no books to buy. Board, room and railroad fare, with a few cents for paper and pencils, constitute the entire expense.

The complete schedule giving the hours at which the different classes will be held is as follows:

Week of June 16—8 to 9, West Va. Mine Law; 9 to 10:30, Explosives; 10:30 to 12, Methods of Working; 2 to 5, First Aid to the Injured.

Week of June 23—8 to 9, West Virginia Mine Law; 9 to 10:30, Methods of Working; 10:30 to 12, Timbering; 2 to 5, Mine Rescue Work.

Week of June 30—8 to 9, W. Va. Mine Law; 9 to 10:30, Mine Gases; 10:30 to 12, Electricity in Mines; 2 to 5, Lectures on Breathing Apparatus and Recovery Work.

Week of July 7—8 to 9, West Va. Mine Law; 9 to 10, Drainage and Pumping; 10 to 11, Hoisting; 11 to 12, Mine Ventilation; 2 to 5, Safety Lamps.

Week of July 14—8 to 9, West Va. Mine Law; 9 to 10:30, Mine Ventilation; 10:30 to 12, Haulage; 2 to 5, Elementary Mechanical Drawing.

Week of July 21—8 to 9, Mine Laws of West Va.; 9 to 10:30, Prevention of Accidents; 10:30 to 12, Mine Fires and Explosions; 2 to 5, Mine Management.

Any inquiries regarding the course should be addressed to Mr. R. Z. Virgin, Asst. Director, Mining Extension Morgantown, W. Va.

Miss Nell Poffenbarger, of Charleston, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Banks, of Walnut avenue.

The Misses Hazel and Madge Holt, of Maple avenue, are in Cincinnati on a visit of several weeks with their sister, Mrs. J. Ingle Malone.

David Holt, who is stationed at Camp Mills, N. J., is in Fairmont on a furlough visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Holt, on Maple avenue.

Ira L. Smith went to Morgantown today to spend Sunday with Mrs. Smith, who is the guest of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Cox. John Robey and family, who had been residing in Pittsburgh for the past three weeks, have returned to this city to reside.

ALL PARADE

Prof. Claude E. Vincent. The Greater Fairmont band lived up to its old time reputation and rendered some excellent march music.

The chief marshal, Arthur G. Martin, county clerk, followed with Sheriff A. M. Glover and Robert C. Miller as assistant marshals. The returned soldiers and sailors under the direction of Major E. B. Carskadon were next in line, the sailors coming first.

Women who saw service abroad, Mrs. George Stockley and Miss Georgia Adams followed in autos. The auto ambulance of Fairmont State hospital was run in this part of the parade. County officers were conveyed in an auto as were J. Walter Barnes, chairman of the Marion County Council of Defense and other active spirits in the parade arrangement. Mayor Anthony Bowen and the city commissioners walked on foot. The clergy of the city also walked in line.

each pastor carrying an American flag.

The Daughters of the American Revolution had a very attractive float in line. A colonial scene in which the old fashioned spinning wheel was featured was cleverly arranged. A bevy of Red Cross nurses were followed by veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic—the originators of Memorial Day. There were thirty conveyed in autos. The lapse of years is rapidly telling on the veterans of 1861 and not a few people noted the fact that other organizations will soon have to take up the work in order to perpetuate the observance of Memorial Day. The Woman's club had touring car in line, which was elaborately decorated in red and green crepe paper.

Lodges in Line.

Canton Monongahela, Pairfarchs Militant, under the command of Col.

O. J. Fleming, turned out with 19 fully equipped men and they presented a fine appearance.

Following were a dozen air knights from Mountain City Commandery, 448, Knights of Malta, who presented a fine appearance in their uniforms and chapeaux. The degree staff of White Oak Camp, 9, Woodmen of the World, was next in line. Marion Lodge, 11, L. O. F., had thirty-five men in line. White Camp, 5473, Modern Woodmen of America, had fifteen men in line. Mountain City Lodge, 49, Knights of Pythias, had forty men in line and Fairmont Lodge of Elks had forty. The Elks carried a service flag, indicating that 57 "Hello Bills" were in Uncle Sam's service. Fifty-five members of White Oak Camp, Woodmen of the World, followed.

"The Victory Bridge."

Included in the parade was a float of the John F. Casey Company, constructing engineers of the South Side and East Side bridges. It contained a miniature span of the bridge. "Fairmont's Victory Bridge" was written on an appended sign. The Casey Company had sixty-eight men in line, Sam Fuller the local general superintendent of construction, leading off the delegation.

Moose Have Big Crowd.

Fairmont Lodge, 9, Loyal Order of Moose, had 150 men in line, one of the largest delegations other than the service men themselves. Twenty members of Fairmont Council, 407, United Commercial Travelers, were in line and the members wore their lodge caps and carried flags.

Cathedral Boys Great.

For youngsters, the Cathedral High School Band, connected with the Catholic Cathedral at Wheeling, cannot be surpassed and their work was greatly commented upon over the line of march. A drum and fife corps as well as a group of huggers are included. There were 50 pieces in the band, which was in charge of Father Constantine, of the Cathedral, and a curate. The boys attired in their neat green uniforms made a hit with the people of Fairmont.

The Cathedral led off the delegation from Fairmont Council, 942, Knights of Columbus, which was marshaled by Father O'Reilly, assistant rector at St. Peter's Catholic church, and J. T. Brennan. There were thirty knights in line, fifty members of Christopher Columbus Society followed. Many carried American and Italian flags.

Quite a Number of Floats.

There were a number of floats in line. Black Diamond Lodge, 6, Daughters of Rebekah, of Monongah, had a float as did the Ladies' Circle of the Woodmen of the World. Dent Hiv, Ladies of the Maccabees, and the Pythian Sisters, of Barrackville.

Ladies of the Golden Brides were also represented. The Daughters of Isabella had a float in line.

Delegations from the Royal Netherlands, Lady Owls, Pythian Sisters, and Golden Links followed. Troop 7, Boy Scouts, under the leadership of C. C. Denham, were next in line. The drum corps from Fairmont High School came next and did some clever work. The boys wore blue skull caps with "F. H. S." thereon and wore white duck trousers, making a fine appearance.

In many respects the school delegations were the most popular because every mother was waiting for their little folks to pass by. There were 200 Fairmont High School students in line. The East Side schools were headed by Prof. W. A. Husted and numbered 150 students. All of the Fairmont city schools were represented in the parade, and the children of some of them wore distinctive headgear.

Mass Meeting Held.

At the conclusion of the parade 5,000 people gathered on Adams street, between Jefferson and Monroe streets, and heard United States Senator William H. King, of Utah, deliver a powerful address. He proved to be a very forceful and candid speaker and the big crowd gave him undivided attention. United States Senator King emphasized the importance of righteousness in governmental places. He referred to a certain lawless element opposed to good government within our own country, which was manifest while his nation was at war.

W. S. or Bolsheviki followers who seek to destroy our liberty and bulwark of American freedom should be banished from our land. United States Senator King declared. Those who are aliens should be deported and those who are citizens who are trying to tear down our government should be severely dealt with. Senator King, who is probably 50 years old, was roundly applauded and was interrupted a number of times during his address when points of oratory were scored.

The opening exercises began on the court house steps shortly after 3:30 o'clock when the Fairmont High School drum corps sang "The Star Spangled Banner." Mrs. Jeannette A. Leeper read a poem of her own composition, "West Virginia to Her Soldier Sons." J. Walter Barnes, chairman of the Marion County Council of Defense, then introduced United States Senator King.

To Our Patrons

Realizing the necessity of our application for increased railway and electric power rates, The Public Service Commission of West Virginia has granted them, effective June 1, 1919.

The railway fares will be seven cents in the cities of Fairmont and Clarksburg and the interurban fares will be seven cents in each zone.

Residence and store electric rates are not affected but electric power rates will be increased.

These changes were caused by increased and ever growing expenditures.

Your continued co-operation will assure SERVICE.
